Flor de Selva Maduro Collection: The Bold Side Now Also Available in the Fino Format

The Flor de Selva Maduro Collection is expanding: With the Fino, the distinctive Grand Corona will be available to a wider audience starting in October. This elegant format combines Flor de Selva's signature style with the more intense character of the Maduro Collection. The new Fino is presented in Germany by Kohlhase & Söhne.

Rellingen, September 9, 2026 – More spice, more intensity, yet still with the balance typical of Flor de Selva: With the Fino, the Flor de Selva Maduro Collection is expanding its lineup to include a size that fans of the brand already know and appreciate from the Classic series.

The slim Grand Corona with its characteristic twisted cigar end was previously reserved for a select group of customers. Starting in October, the Fino Maduro will be available to the general public, expanding the Maduro Collection to a total of six sizes.

A Popular Format Turns Dark

With a length of 152 millimeters and a ring gauge of 44, the Fino is elegant and slender. At the same time, this format offers the perfect opportunity to discover the more intense side of Flor de Selva.

More spice, more intensity, but always with the balance typical of Flor de Selva. Maya Selva herself describes the series as »expressive, but not too dominant« – and with that, she sums up its character quite precisely.

More intensity, same signature style

At the heart of the Fino is a high-quality Maduro wrapper from Honduras. Its dark color results from natural fermentation, which also contributes to the cigar's characteristic profile.

Beneath the Maduro wrapper, select Honduran tobaccos provide aromatic depth. From the very first draw, intense earthy notes define the flavor profile. These are complemented by bittersweet chocolate and rich roasted notes. A pronounced spiciness accompanies the smoking experience, while the texture remains pleasantly silky.

The result is a cigar rated 4 out of 5 in strength, combining power and aromatic intensity without sacrificing balance.

The Darker Interpretation of Flor de Selva

Those who know and appreciate the Flor de Selva Classic will discover a more intense interpretation in the Maduro Collection. And for those who haven't yet tried the Maduro series, the new Fino offers a special opportunity to get to know this side of Flor de Selva.
